HAPPY

BEYOND SURVIVE, THRIVE

by Dan Liss

Excitement plays an important part in creativity and success. Excitement is what can bring our energy up a level. Excitement is what stimulates us to research and think of new ways to do things.

As one of the critical factors in helping us get more of what we want out of life, excitement is all about our aliveness.

Look at how it works. If we say that something is a goal of ours, but we have an attitude "it's OK with me if I get it, and it's OK with me if I don't" then how much fuel is there in the engine to drive us toward that goal?

Look at how much excitement a person has when they are showing their new product or service. Doesn't that excitement alone often inspire you to try that new product or service?

When a person is working on a project and they are totally focused on it, and happy to be creating, notice how the excitement fuels their work.

In the metaphysical world, it was excitement of rediscovering the value of ancient ways that led some people to embrace the renaissance of interest in paganism, tantra, shamanism, herbalism, feng shui, tarot, and many other subjects.

When you are deciding which career path to pursue, notice the energy attached to your choices. If one is simply a way to make money and the other is something you would really like to do, which one do you think will be more successful? Which

Life is about choices. What we choose will determine how the rest of our life plays out.

Choice can be about taking a risk or playing it safe, the unknown or staying in the same place. How would you play your life?

one contains so much energy that you would want to excel at that?

Excitement is the sign that we are in touch with the elements of life that are most invigorating, most conscious, most alert and most in touch with our desire to not only survive, but thrive.

To get more of what you want out of life, notice how when you choose the path you are most excited about that you make greater progress. Excitement, inspiration and creativity travel hand in hand.

This is why when you do what you love, the money follows. The thing is to do it consistently. It is one thing to set your goal at the threshold of survive, but it is so much more intensely satisfying to set it at the level of thrive. And isn't that exciting? Go for it. Squeeze the juice out of life and drink it! ♥

GIVE YOURSELF A MENTAL BOOST

Some affirmations you can use to create a 'new and improved' YOU.

"The past is done. It's nothing but a trail I've left behind. My life is based on how I choose to think and act in this very moment. And each moment is a fresh new blessing and opportunity."

"I release any fear, self-doubt and uncertainty now. No one can make me feel inferior without my consent. I have the power to control my thoughts. When I think about what I want and I stay in that vibration, I draw into my life the corresponding reality through the Law of Attraction."

"I move in the direction of my dominant thoughts and therefore I have access to unlimited self-confidence at any moment by simply acting the part. The more often I step into a desired role, the faster it becomes a natural part of who I am." ♥

Self care is vital to any healing arts practitioner. It's important to have balance and harmony between the psychological, physiological, emotional and spiritual domains.

Some techniques include breathing and relaxation, visualization and mindfulness, and a 'quick-fix' self massage that can be used easily and quickly even in a work setting.
